DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 3-7, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 3, line 1, it is not clear what “the second projecting tab” is referring to.

In claim 7, line 2, “aperture” seems to be “apertures”. Further, lines 2-3, “and one of the... tabs forms an interference fit” does not make sense. One element alone cannot make an interference fit.

In claim 9, it is not clear what is being defined as “a second projecting tab”, without defining the “first”. Further, claim 9 is incomplete without a positive “aperture” for receiving the tab. The claim is therefore raises uncertainty of operability.

In claim 10, it is not clear what “the first projecting tab” and “the second projecting tab” are referring to. Apparently, the dependency of claim 10 should have been claim 9.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

4. Claims 1, 2, 7, 8, 9, 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Workman (6,560,934). Embodiment shown in figures 1-3 has a first projecting tab 70 and a second tab 71. Hinge is not a positive limitation. Intended use, for a vent bar, is given no patentable weight.

Art Unit: 3677

5. Claims 1, 2, 7-9, 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Grosjean (4,662,553). Any structure directed to the hinge is given no patentable weight.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 3-6 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Workman '934 or Grosjean '553.

Both '934 and '553 do not show the tab having non-circular cross section. However, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the different portions of the tabs with a non-circular cross section or whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47.

8. Claims 13-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over GB 2233706A in view of Anderson (2,154,716).

GB discloses the invention as claimed but for a shim disposed between the hinged member and the hinge leaf. '716 teaches a hinge having a shim (28) placed between the hinged member (22) and the hinge leaf (24) to adjust the relative positioning of the door in the frame opening. The shim provides apertures (30) to engage tabs (27) formed in the hinge leaf to retain the shim in a desired position. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the hinge leaf (19) of GB with a shim as taught by '716 in order to adjust the relative positioning of the window in the window frame opening.

As to the specific locations of the projecting tabs and apertures stated in claims 14-6, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to reverse the locations of the tabs and their corresponding apertures of '716, since it has been held that rearranging parts of an invention involves only routine skill in the art. In re Japikse, 86 USPQ 70.

As to claim 19, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the different portions of the tabs with a non-circular cross section or whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47.

Note that "without requiring tools" in claim 13 is a conditional statement. "different cross section" in claim 16 is a broad term includes different diameters.

Conclusion

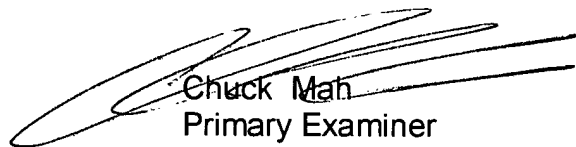

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
